

Worship Service Roundup

---

Friends,

What joy to be together and reminded of the inherent worth, dignity, and goodness of humanity, especially when some of our kindred don't act like it! Take heart this week. Love wins! And we make it happen! Please see below for info on how you can help get involved with this congregation's work. Hope to see some of you Friday evening!

You can rewatch the whole service here: <https://boxcast.tv/view/worship-477107>

You can rewatch McKinley's sermon here: <https://youtu.be/bAqSdSAIcGU>

You can rewatch the Fanga video here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JSHFfK6tdIQ>

Joys and Sorrows

Harald G: Happy birthday to my son, Peter!

Annabel G: sending greetings to everyone, missing our community...but here we are!!

Bruce PJ: Terry Williams reports a heavy lockdown due to a COVID-19 outbreak. He has only 15 minutes per day to either take a shower or go to the phone/email kiosk. Please keep him in your thoughts.

Sharon F: I want to lift up all Indigenous, First Nation people for Monday as opposed to focusing on Columbus Day. There is a collective trauma that we have a responsibility to work to heal. For my Native American mentor and teacher, Cyndy Paige and her family. Her husband is ill and her brother has been placed in hospice care.

Peter J: May we be mindful of all those here and around the world who are struggling to simply survive!

Fern C: Deep appreciation for the Restoration folks who participated in the Annual Meeting of the Pennsylvania Universalist Convention: Cynthia Bradley, my Alternate Trustee, Delegates Brad and Julie Bradburd, Anthony Clarke, Ron Soper, Pat DeBrady, Louise Speirs, Rev. McKinley Sims, Tim Styer and Eithne Ross!

Linda PJ: I am thankful that Cathedral Village is open for visits. We got to see Bob Pollack and made sure he filled out his ballot and mailed it.

Holly J: My friend Barbara had ovarian cancer surgery last week and it's quite aggressive. I'm holding her in my heart with love. Also, I am SOOO grateful for the love-filled and delicious soups from UUCR community members this week - they nourish my body and soul.

Tim S: Grateful to be in this community that has nurtured me and my family for so many years

Bob T: Joyous at the release last week of 'Emma's Revolution' latest protest song as it was produced, recorded (audio) and mixed by our son Daryn... and they were 'at' the Folk Factory the next evening. Feels like coming 'round to a family circle... feeling deep beloved community. Grateful.

Barbara P: My thoughts for my brother-in-law, George Leone, who had surgery and is facing another one and my sister Deborah Leone who is his caretaker.

Keith K: Went to a wedding yesterday, such a blessing during these dark times.

Sandy F: The hearts of indigenous people have never been broken, and are strong. But may their future be better, without constant political threats!

Ron S: Yesterday, I served as a delegate to the Pennsylvania Universalist convention meeting, hosted by the corrugation in Athens PA and enjoyed the reports from the six-member churches.

Lela B: I ask your prayers for my brother Andrew. So many people are struggling now.

See you soon, friends. Hang in there. I love you.

Rev. McKinley