

Worship Service Roundup: Sunday, October 3

Re-watch

Whole service: <https://boxcast.tv/view/worship-603763>

Sermon: <https://youtu.be/nksRWKqGfb4>

Announcements

- Please RSVP on Friday if you plan to attend Sunday in person. Call or email the office.
- We're looking for Zoom hosts for Coffee Hours and for Coordinators for the Ushers in hybrid services. Contact McKinley if interested. More info will be in Thursday's email!
- Vespers Wed. Oct. 6th at 7pm- hybrid in-person and online (use Worship zoom link)
- Book Discussion: Valarie Kaur's See No Stranger, Part I Sunday, October 24th @ 3:00pm
- Support Joshua O: anyone who eats at Rivera D'italia on October 6th and mentions "Troop 437" will be able to help them keep 15% of the proceeds for their end of year fundraising!

Joys and Concerns

- Louise S - I did not march yesterday but my soul is with all those who attended.
- Harald G - Happy Birthday to Brad, Julie and Eithne!
- Barbara P - To the memory of all the bird and animal species that have been officially declared extinct. And hope for all who are on the endangered list,
- Peter (he/him/his) - Let us be mindful of the need to preserve and restore habitat, including the oceans, wetlands, and rainforests, for all life. We must attend to "how" and "what" we consume!
- Mary L - My greatest joy yesterday was seeing my son, his partner, my granddaughter and great grandsons yesterday for the first time since lockdown. Met my news great grand for the first time.
- Bruce (he/him/his) PJ - My birthday is tomorrow, and we had a lovely lunch with an old Italian friend to celebrate, as well as singing with 8 other Italian friends last weekend. Italians are very generous - I got huge slabs of cheese and nice wine as gifts!

Music on Sunday

206 all creatures of the earth and sky

163 for the earth forever turning

38 morning has broken

The Circle of Life- Lion King